Welcome Weekend

Friday, July 22nd through Sunday, July 24th

Building Connections Through Community

If you're interested in creating connections with our intergenerational community that cultivates both social and ecological sustainability, visit us for Welcome Weekend and see how life changes when you...

- know your 33 closest neighbors (and their kids and their pets)
- work on collaborative teams and make decisions by consensus
- share abundance with homegrown food and music and celebrations
- work together on long-range plans for the community
- give and receive support in living green

Schedule

Friday, July 22nd

- 5:30pm Welcome (overview of the weekend)
- 6:00pm Potluck (vegetarian, no peanuts due to allergies)

*Resilience Network is a loose network of people sharing knowledge/skills to prepare for difficult circumstances in the times ahead. The group was launched in October, 2010 at CoHo Ecovillage to build a community-based response to the Triple Threat (Peak Oil, climate change, financial collapse).
